

Demo Site 31 - Just Tickets

Just Tickets is the leading ticket printers to Amateur & Professional Theatre and the Leisure Industry throughout the UK..

We have just finished developing and optimising a new web site for Just Tickets at justtkts.co.uk. The site features a modern and stylish design which is intended to appeal to a technical sector of the theatre and leisure industry. The new site is easy to modify so that on-going development costs are minimised.

Testimonial:

"Just Tickets had previously had a disastrous attempt by a 'local' company to produce our website and as a result we were looking for a new web developer. By chance a friend of ours who had experienced a major problem with a mutual (un-named) ISP provider, mentioned that LightQuick provide good service and could do a good website for us. Having known Dean Beedell the MD from his theatre years at the Kenton Theatre we knew he would come up trumps. Following a very early meeting with him, our perceived requirements of the new site materialised before our very eyes and despite the intricacy of our requirements both in quantity of images, order forms and general layout Dean came up trumps and we now have an all-singing, all-dancing website which will serve our existing and potential new customers well. The bonus being that with using CMS we are in total control of all our website details and can change text and images at will without the on-going cost usually associated with web development.

Having LightQuick on-board has been a welcome breath of fresh air to us and would not hesitate in recommending LightQuick to other potential customers."

Jim Birney, Director of Just Tickets

The following image shows a simple and modern design in keeping with the image of Just Tickets with two simple and easy to use navigation menus. Some of the main features are highlighted in red. Click on the image below to show you Just Tickets's new website .

Just Tickets's

old site had zero search engine optimisation..The new site has some built-in search engine optimisation (SEO) tools to ensure that Google finds (and likes)

Just Tickets's new website contents. We will also be configuring the meta tags and will be submitting the site for google's spiders and crawlers to find.

Other optimisation will follow. Just Tickets's new website is aimed at a particular market and when the Directors decide that they need to penetrate new markets we will fully optimise the site, enabling a Google Adwords campaign and ensuring the world knows about the site.